

KRISTINA COLLECTION

Kristina Collection embodies artistry, while preserving the heritage of glassmaking. Founded by Hana Stepanek, who was born in the Czech Republic and moved to the United States 30 years ago, the brand reflects her lifelong appreciation for creativity and fine arts.

Hana's passion for jewelry stems from her artistic roots. She comes from a family of artists—her mother and grandmother were both painters—and is also an accomplished musician. This rich artistic background informs her designs and fuels her dedication to the Kristina Collection line, which she has been perfecting for over 20 years.

The jewelry line is named after Hana's daughter, Kristina, adding a deeply personal touch to each creation. Drawing inspiration from the intricate techniques of Bohemian glassmaking, Kristina Collection crafts exquisite pieces using traditional glass and crystal beads. This art form, rooted in the Jizera Mountains of northern Bohemia, has defined European elegance for centuries, influencing creations such as glass flowers, vases, and chandeliers.

At Kristina Collection, this legacy is honored by blending time-tested techniques with modern aesthetics to create timeless, memory-wire jewelry. Each piece is hypoallergenic and nickel-free, ensuring that it is not only beautiful but also safe and comfortable for those with sensitive skin.

Whether you're drawn to the intricate beauty of our floral-inspired designs or the shimmering allure of the crystal accents, Kristina Collection offers jewelry that is as unique as it is meaningful—a true reflection of artistry, heritage, and personal passion.
